Texts in Your Language

This is how you can view the ViMA website in your language:

Select your language Click the flag icon:

List of languages The list of languages for which translations exist will appear.

Select a language, e.g. English.
The main headings of the website will now appear in English:

single texts However, you will have to translate the users' posts into the language you want one by one.

To do so, click this icon.
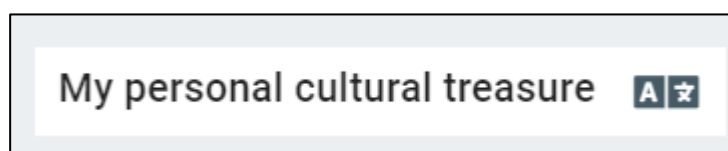

Now you can choose between three options:

In the language you choose, the following will appear

1) this text,

2) the entire post, or

3) all visible posts.

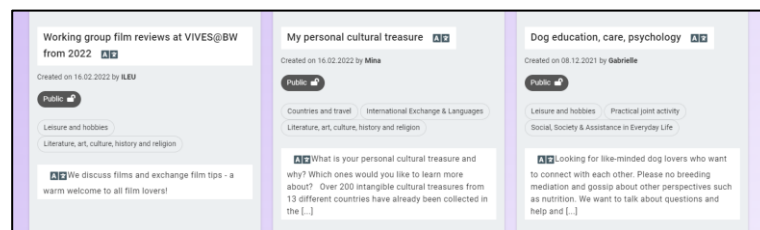

this text
(Translate text)

The heading appears in the language you have selected.

the entire post
(Translate entire post)

Not only the headline, but the entire post is translated.

all visible posts
(Translate all visible posts)

➥ Note   When you switch to the individual posts, they will first appear in German again. You will then need to have them translated again.

Website in German again

To be able to read the entire web page in German again (or in another language), click the corresponding flag at the flag option again.